“ It's taken me a while to get around to this, but I figured there's no time like now. Grandma would always refer to herself as our "forever grandma" whenever sending birthday wishes or signing holiday cards. That phrase took on an even higher meaning when I looked at her for the last time the week before she had passed. With tears streaming down my face, knowing it would be the last time I hugged her while in mortality, she looked at me and asked what was wrong, if everything was ok. She said she loved me, and I felt it then more than ever. I knew that she would still be around even after she passed, not physically but spiritually forever at our sides. I knew that she'd live in the hearts of those she had left behind, and in a sense would never really die. I loved the phrase that she would always use when giving us encouragement in times of difficulty and trial; she would always say, "stay Savior strong". She not only encouraged us to stay Savior strong, but she did so herself. She always had a smile on her face, and she lived life the way that it was supposed to be lived and did so around those who matter most, her family. No matter what condition she was in, no matter how sick she was, she was always looking to serve others around her before meeting even her own needs. Her and grandpa were perfect together, and they taught us how to live and how to love. They taught us what's most important in life; FAMILY. I look forward to the day when I will get to look you in the eye again, and tell you once more how thankful I am for the many years you have been at my side as my forever grandma, my literal angel. I love you, and I know that we will meet again soon at the feet of our Savior. Until then we do as you say and stay savior strong.

“ I read your sweet and loving words and cried. I have known Julie for 40 years. We met at First Security Bsnk in Spanish Fork. She had ALWAYS and still serves as a great example of a friend, mother and grandmother. Her grandchildren were EVERYTHING to her. She always was laughing and smiling. We shared so many fun times together. Yes, she will always be with us. I'm am so blessed to have known her and look forward to seeing her again. She and your grandpa, I know are so proud of their sweet family. I miss you, Julie.

“ Dear Terry and Girls, My heart is full of sadness today as I just learned of Julies passing.
Being the oldest cousin on the Shell side i have many fond memories of her when we were little and would play at Grandma and Grandpa Shells house. She will always hold a special place in my heart. My sincere condolence to Terry, the girls , and the grandchildren. I am so sorry i didn't know sooner as i would liked to attend her services.
Know that the veil is very thin and she is always with you wanting the best for you.
