“ Nancy, you have been a dear, kind, and true friend to me. Fly and soar, dear friend, with your vibrant spirit now unfettered by your mortal illness.

“ I've never known anyone as kind, generous, fun, witty, and supportive as Nancy! I'm so sorry I didn't get to hug her goodbye. My heart goes out to Mindy, Christian, and Zack. Nancy made me feel like I was her best friend--she helped me through many bad times. . . .and celebrated many good times with me. She lived in my basement for a while and we used to go out and get "a cold one" together. She always made life fun. I've missed her wonderful support and infectious smile that I got to see on a daily basis then. She always made me look at the bright side of life and would joke about her own hardships so that we spent a lot of time laughing. I love you Nancy! You belong with the angels!!! You've been an angel in my life!!! It's hard to think that you aren't just a phone call away. I will look to the heavens and see you up there looking down and smiling with that wonderful smile of yours!!!

“ It is hard to let you go my dear friend. You were always uplifting and such a joy to be around. I will hold on to the memories like you sitting with me at Chain Breakers. After we would leave you would say sing another song to me Areil. I miss your sweet smile and laugh, but I can hear your voice whenever I feel like it. I recorded your message from my cell to a cassette tape so whenever I need your words of strength I can indulge. If the world had more people like you, it would be a better place to live in. I love you and will always keep you close to my heart. love Areil

“ I will miss seeing her beautiful face. The first time I met her I was drawn to her because she was so kind and just sweet. She's so beautiful. I'm so sad about her passing but can only imagine how great her reunion with her daughter must be.

“ I will miss our nightly talks, I will miss you calling me every year on my birthday right at 9:06 to wish me a happy birthday and saying when you were born the doctor said "here comes little Suzie now"! I will cherish our traditions that we have had throughout the year- making potato salad for Easter, going to the Christmas Carol play and many more. You taught me how to be strong, kind and how to love others beyond measure. I love you with all my heart. We are forever bound as you told me during your last days. Love Mindy.

“ I first helped Nancy with some life coaching and then we became good friends for a number of years. Nancy made great progress in her life and was very open to learning new things. She had a great sense of humor. Just to share a couple of humorous instances. When in Rehab, after a procedure, the nurse told her that she could only have clear liquids. She said she was hungry and wasn't there something she could eat? The nurse said, "If you can't see through it you can't have it." She replied, "You can see through a donut, can't you?" Then to show how great her attitude during her illness, she was talking to one of her bishops and he assured her that they would take care of the food after the funeral if that is what was needed. Now Nancy was great at helping others but hated to receive help from others so she replied something to the effect of: "Oh, I hate to think of you doing all that for me. I feel like I need to help. Maybe I could make a casserole and some spam roll ups and freeze them for the dinner." She had a way with words like no other. I will miss her greatly and our frequent late night talks when neither one of us were sleeping. She really loved her family, for sure. Love you, Nancy. Sharon Crandall Ahotailoa

“ Nancy was my cousin and had the most contagious laugh you have ever heard. My mom Myrna Riddle and her mom Norma were very close and my fondest memory is when they used to go have their hair done together uptown at the shop Norma owned. My mom would drive and then call me saying they were lost and did not know what direction they were going in. I often worried they would not make it home ok but now they are all home together again. Nancy was forever making people smile and laugh and she will be missed. Laurie Riddle Jensen
