“ Linda, sincere wishes of peace and reassurance at this time of loss. I only knew Paul from our interactions at the pharmacy, but that was enough to leave a memorable impression. Paul was so kind and patient and focused on the good when he had such ongoing, continuous challenges in dealing with cancer. Somehow he spread cheer in the midst of his personal suffering. Having dealt with depression this last year I think Paul's example is one I hope to emulate. It has been a privelege to know Paul and wish you Heavenly Father's richest blessings in your time of loss. Sincerely,
Ken Johnson

“ My name is Janet Compton Hatch. I was a close friend of Paul Duncomb in college at BYU. We both shared a love of sacred organ music. We shared many of the same friends in music circles at BYU. I was saddened when accidentally discovered his name in the obituaries this evening. Paul and I dated, but we did not have a romantic relationship. He was a loyal, honest, hard working friend, and I have such fond memories of him. Oh I wish that I could have said goodbye. Maybe I can say "hello," in the next life. I express my condolences.
