“ Oh my goodness it brings tears to my eyes to see this. I'm so sorry for the loss of my other "mom". So many memories of growing up running around Robyn's Nest with you Kati, my best friend. Your mom was always giving us that look.....stone faced with the look in her eye that was the most obvious giveaway of what she was thinking.....that we had completely lost it and had no brains in our heads. She was right of course. I remember how cool I thought she was that she would be that mom that baked! Bread (who makes their own bread?!), cheesecake, cookies you name it. Your house always had treats. The times we would scare ourselves out of our wits in that massive house, creeping round corners and she would appear out of nowhere (or so it seemed!) and as we screamed bloody murder at the sudden "presence" (aka Mom), she would once again give us that look. Such a big part of my life back then growing up with you Kati. My best friend still. I miss you and I will miss your mama. Big hugs to all of you and know I'm reminiscing and thinking about you guys. Love you long time. Xoxo

“ I was so sorry to learn of Robin's passing and it was so unexpected. I had been thinking of her and wondering how she was doing but just didn't get her called. We worked together at Heritage Schools. I worked in the office and she would often come in and visit when she wasn't teaching a class. I went through cancer right after her so we could share what we were going through. She was a sweet lady. I know what it is to lose your mother. You are in my thoughts and prayers. Judy Sorensen
